The Database is A Detail

- The organizational structure of data, the data model, is architecturally significant

- The DBMS is an implementation to force the data to be organized into tables and accessed with SQL

  - Not architecturally significant

The Web is A Detail
The web is an IO device

- The GUI is a detail.

- The WEB is a GUI.

- The WEB is a detail.